Workforce and Economic Development Program (WED)
California Labor Federation

Tim Rainey is the Director of the Workforce and Economic Development Program (WED) of the California Labor Federation.

WED's primary work is twofold: policy development at the State and local levels and brokering industry-based training partnerships among unions, employers, community organizations, education, and public workforce agencies.

Previously, Tim was Policy Director for the California Workforce Association where he advocated on behalf of local workforce investment boards in legislative, policy, and administrative deliberations in Sacramento and Washington DC. Prior to joining CWA, he was consultant to the Senate Democratic Caucus of the California State Senate.

Mr. Rainey is a co-founder and executive committee member of the EDGE Campaign, member of the California Apollo Alliance Steering Committee, and serves on several other committees and commissions related to workforce and economic development.

He holds a bachelors degree in Government from California State University, Sacramento.
